

The Wartburg Project

July 2020

*Grass withers, flowers fade, but the Word of our God endures forever.
Translators come, translations go, but the Word of our God endures forever.*

Metric Version

Editing of the metric version of the EHV for use around the world has been finished. The metric EHV is now being set-up as a Microsoft Store app and in Logos Bible software.

The metric text of the EHV is also being entered into the Digital Bible Library (DBL) for use by translators from around the world. For this purpose, the Wartburg Project has been accepted by the United Bible Societies as intellectual property providers for the DBL.

The Story of God’s Love: A Summary of the Holy Bible

NPH has begun the set-up work for this summary of the whole Bible. It will be an excellent textbook for upper grades, high schools, and colleges and a great resource for outreach efforts.

Getting Ready for the Next School Year

We hope that by autumn all schools will again be operating safely. Now is the time to be thinking about ordering your EHV resources for the school year.

For ordering information go to the Wartburg Project website and use the tabs that appear on the home page.

For more detailed information about more resources, click on the BOOKSTORE tab at the top of the home page.

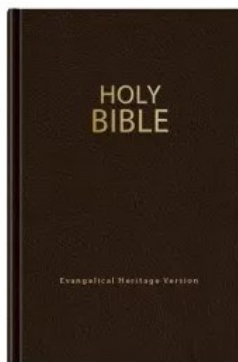

A new “Bookstore” tab has been added to our web page, with information and links to resources available for purchase.

The Holy Bible: Evangelical Heritage Version (EHV)

A New, Faithful Bible Translation — Now Available for Purchase

Translated faithfully from the original Greek and Hebrew, the EHV proclaims the gospel of salvation through faith in Jesus

VERSE OF THE DAY

“[Run the Race] Therefore, since we are surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses, let us get rid of every burden and the sin that so easily ensnares us, and let us run with patient endurance the race

Using the EHV

The Wartburg Project is generous about giving licenses to authors to use the EHV in their works. Here is a recent example of a work using the EHV. Such works are not produced by the Wartburg Project. The content provided is that of the author.

Christian Prayer Paperback – May 7, 2020
by Paul C Stratman (Author)

Kindle $0.00 kindleunlimited | Paperback $8.50

Read with Kindle Unlimited to also enjoy access to over 1 million more titles $7.00 to buy | 1 New from $8.50

This book strives to bring together the best classic prayers and rites from many sources and arranges them for personal devotion. It draws from the prayers of Christians of the past as a source of prayer for Christians today. Thus, the title Christian Prayer. This prayer book can also be used for group or congregational worship. The topical prayers can be used as intercessions in corporate worship. The confessions and absolutions and the litanies can be read alone, but they are printed so they can be used with a leader and group.

This Month's Articles

1. Top Ten Reasons that the EHV is Worship-Friendly 🔗

Excerpt:

6) Like the Lutherbibel the EHV is translated for the ear no less than for the eye. Luther realized that his Bible would be read aloud in church and in family devotion, therefore he tried to make the sound pleasing to the ear. He avoided harsh constructions, unbalanced sentences and disturbing subordinate clauses. The result was a rhythmic flow of language.

All the EHV lessons have been thoroughly “sound tested” by congregations.

2. The Use of Contractions in the Bible (FAQ 61) 🔗

Excerpt:

We are not trying to make Judeans sound like 21st century Americans. We are trying to make them sound like ancient Judeans who spoke good English. Did they contract words in their daily speech? Probably, because that is a very normal and natural process of speech. More to the point is whether the scribes who recorded that speech wanted to record it with contractions. Did they want us to read it with contractions? Probably not, if the intense efforts of the Masoretes to insist on exact pronunciation reflect the intent of the text. Both Jews and Christians are typically more formal in their church and synagogue reading than in daily conversation.

We currently are well funded to complete the study Bible projects. If you would like to continue to support the Wartburg Project, we suggest supplying gift copies of EHV to family, friends, called workers, schools, prisons, and other institutions.

See our website (wartburgproject.org) for more information relating to the EHV. See FAQ #15 on the name EHV. A paper explaining our name is posted in the “Library” section.
